Off Season Golf Instruction (Oct 1– April 1)

In order to stay sharp during the off season it is essential to practice with a purpose. While practice is central to improving your game, instruction gives you the tools to ensure you do not form any bad habits that can hinder your development and overall play during the upcoming season.

Because of the cold weather, it is very difficult to practice with any regularity. At Glenwoodie, we have a Launch Monitor and Golf Simulator set up to facilitate winter practice and instruction. Depending on your preference, we can use the inside golf simulator, launch monitor (inside or out), driving range and/or golf course.
